NAZI FORCES IN EAST PRUSSIA ISOLATED

RUSSIAN TANKS REPORTED TO BE APPROACHING PROVINCE IN WHICH BERLIN IS LOCATED

Bitter Fighting Said To Be Taking Place for Poznan, Bydgoszcz and Torun Communication With Breslau Is Severed

KONIGSBERG AND ELBING ARE BEING STORMED

BULLETIN
London, Jan. 26.—(P)—Marshal Stalin announced today the capture of four East Prussian towns on the approaches to Königsberg in an order of the day. The four towns are Allenberg, Nordenburg, Lotzen and Tapien. Allenberg is 32 miles southwest of Königsberg and Tapien is 21 miles east of the East Prussian capital. Nordenburg is 21 miles southwest of Insterburg.

London, Jan. 26.—(P)—East Prussia has been cut off and German troops there isolated. Moscow dispatches reported flatly today, as Russian tanks to the south were placed by German broadcasts close to the border of Brandenburg, Prussian province of which Berlin is the capital.

From Moscow, AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore said Russians, having isolated the German forces in East Prussia, were now starting

“the grim task of storming Königsberg and Elbing, the two biggest centers of resistance left.” A wide mopping-up operation in the German province was reported in progress, with Soviet columns still from 10 to 15 miles from Königsberg.

Today's German communiqué said Russian tank formations had driven “farther to the west and northwest on both sides of Poznan.” It reported bitter fighting was in progress for Poznan, Bydgoszcz and Torun. Bydgoszcz is 129 miles northeast of Poznan and Torun is about 25 miles east of Bydgoszcz.

The German high command announced that “a fierce tank battle developed southwest of Gliwitz,” important mining and communications center in upper Silesia now held by Russians.

As the German radio announced the threat to Brandenburg, the Red Army newspaper Red Star asserted “we have reached the last road—the road we have dreamed about for three long years.”

At the nearest point the Brandenburg border is within 91 miles of the German capital, but the German broadcast did not place the Russian spearhead exactly. Moscow reported yesterday that Red army forces were little more than 125 miles from Berlin.

Two other capital cities of German provinces were being threatened. The Russians announced that “all direct communications with Breslau have been cut off” and the Germans declared the Red army had launched an all-out drive for Königsberg.

Moscow placed the Russian forces within five miles of Poznan and a German broadcast reported they had driven past both sides of this key city in reaching the vicinity of the Brandenburg frontier. The broadcast said the tank vanguards had been destroyed.

Hither's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, admitted “there is no continuous line today.” (Turn to Page Eleven)

STATE PUBLISHERS ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Harrisburg, Jan. 26.—(P)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association today elected G. Albert Stewart, editor and publisher of the Clearfield Progress, as president to succeed George J. Mead of the Erie Daily Times.

Accepting the post, the former state secretary of forests and waters told the PNPA 20th annual conference:

“Newspapers can best serve their country, in war as in peace, by discharging their editorial responsibilities in the true American tradition of freedom of expression and independence of action.”

NOTE FROM EXILED REGIME

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—The United States has received a memorandum from the Polish government in exile asking establishment of an inter-Allied commission to administer Poland until elections can be held. This was disclosed today by Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew at a news conference which covered a wide range of diplomatic affairs.

RAKEMAN LOSES LEGS
Lancaster, Jan. 26.—(P)—Joseph H. Lentz, 51, Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, had both legs amputated in Lancaster hospital yesterday after workers with acetylene torches cut him loose from two freight cars between which he was pinned.

The Japanese Domei news agency said in a dispatch intercepted by FCC that “the enemy intends to attempt new airborne operations on Luzon.” The story said a “sizeable force” of American airborne units have been assembled on Leyte in the central Philippines.

Less Than One Pat a Day Is Butter Rationing Prediction

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(P)—The nation's civilians face a 1945 ration of less than one pat of butter a day, spokesmen for the industry said today as they announced they had urged “immediate” federal action to relieve the butter “crisis.”

In telegrams to government food production and pricing agencies, the spokesmen representing the over-all butter industry committee, “urgently requested” measures “to encourage, not discourage butter production.”

At a special meeting here the committee, representing the American Butter Institute, National

Victorious Yanks Roll South After Capture of Clark Field Against Mild Jap Opposition

By the Associated Press

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 26—Clark Field, with its 17 airfields within striking distance of the China coast, was firmly in American hands today, along with adjacent Fort Stotsenburg. Triumphant Yanks rolled on south against such light opposition that combat officers expressed doubt the Japanese would make a determined fight short of Manila, some 40 miles south.

Vast Clark Field, most highly developed aviation center in the Philippines, with its extensive network of landing strips, shops and other installations, was captured early Thursday by Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's 14th Army Corps.

The Americans found few Japanese but numerous land mines and booby traps as they swarmed over Clark in pursuit of an enemy garrison of perhaps 5,000, which fled into the hills where artillery positions could keep the airstrips unusable.

The main body of Japanese was being hounded by American artillery. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communiqué today said “our forces are engaged in clearing enemy troops from the nearby hills.”

Capture of Clark Field, certainly a major prize of the war, constituted a personal satisfaction for MacArthur, whose main air strength in the Philippines was wiped out in December, 1941, as Japanese divebombers struck devastating blows to open the Japanese conquest of the islands.

Sixth Army Yanks moved onto Clark Field so fast the Japanese failed to put up a stiff fight from defenses carefully dug into ridges at the northern approaches.

Food shipments are included in the ban unless under government directed or consigned shipments.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—A “freeze” for which the weather actually is responsible will immobilize all freight shipments, except war goods, throughout a large area of the eastern United States for the next three days.

The Association of American Railroads, acting at the direction of the Office of Defense Transportation, announced that for period running from 12:01 a. m., Saturday to 12:01 a. m. Tuesday it will put an embargo on all freight except war freight consigned to, through or within the area east and south of the Great Lakes.

Food shipments are included in the ban unless under government directed or consigned shipments.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—An embargo on all except war freight to, through and within the area east and south of the Great Lakes will help considerably in clearing up a storm-wrought freight tieup at Buffalo, says an Association of American Railroads official.

At the nation's second largest railroad center continued a four-week struggle to relieve the congestion which has been blamed for food, grain, newspaper and other shortages in the northeast. Eugene W. Coughlin, assistant to the chairman of the rail association's car service division said:

“The new embargo x x x should help considerably. It will tend to stop the piling up of freight, and give railroad crews a chance to unload the cars already here.”

Subzero temperatures and snow slowed clearing operations yesterday, but 8,000 cars were reported ready to move out.

N. Y. Yankees Are Acquired By Syndicate

New York, Jan. 26.—(P)—The New York Yankees, world's richest baseball club, have been sold to a syndicate made up of Col. Larry MacPhail, Capt. Dan Topping and Del Webb, Phoenix, Ariz.,

Contractor. The deal, rumored since last August, was confirmed by Robert A. Becker, a business associate of Webb's in Phoenix who said that “Mr. Webb telephoned me this morning to transfer some money to him there to facilitate his part of the transaction.”

Neither MacPhail nor Webb would comment here, although MacPhail announced that a press conference would be held later today.

Ed Barrow, club president and holder of 10 per cent of the stock in the huge enterprise, would not comment but his office indicated he also would have a statement later in the day.

The deal, said to involve between two and a half and three million dollars, still must be approved by the major league advisory council.

All the club's property, including the Yankee Stadium in New York and the baseball parks at Kansas City and Newark are included except for the Barrow stock. Three hundred and fifty players, of whom all but 115 are in the service, also change ownership.

The unconfirmed broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications, linked bombardment of Corregidor and carrier aircraft attacks on Formosa and Okinawa, with Japanese reports that increasing numbers of U. S. surface craft are moving into Lingayen bay of Luzon island and waters south of the island.

The Japanese Domei news agency said in a dispatch intercepted by FCC that “the enemy intends to attempt new airborne operations on Luzon.” The story said a “sizeable force” of American airborne units have been assembled on Leyte in the central Philippines.

Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, and the National Creameries Association, advocated: Increasing the base price of butter by six cents a pound and increasing the production payment on butterfat sold for butter.

Dr. H. A. Ruehe, institute secretary, said government policies now in effect “discourage” production and that the loss in butter output last year was 322,000,000 pounds, more than all the butter taken for the armed forces and lend lease—287,000,000 pounds. He said the 1944 output of creamy butter was 1,478,000,000 pounds, as compared to a normal output of 1,300,000,000 pounds.

Breaking all previous records for the same period, gross sales in 11 Pittsburgh department stores in the first three weeks of 1945 topped those in 1944 by eight per cent, the Bureau of Business Research, University of Pittsburgh, reported today.

Coupled with moderate gains in originating shipments, this raised the business index 3.5 points. The bureau reported slight declines in steel mill operations, bituminous coal tonnage and river tonnage.

NEW TACTICS IN FIGHT ON NOMINATION

Opponents Shift to Frontal Attack on Cabinet Appointment of Former Vice President

HOLD CLOSED HEARING

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—Opponents shifted to a frontal attack on the cabinet nomination of Henry A. Wallace today as the former vice president set up boundaries on the authority he might wield as secretary of commerce.

The senate commerce committee scheduled a closed meeting to vote on legislation to strip the department of control over the government's sprawling lending agencies.

But even as this action neared, administration critics let it become known that they believe they have 48 to 50 votes—enough to defeat the nomination—if it is considered before the senate passes on the divorce bill.

For that reason, they had changed tactics and were urging that Wallace be voted up or down, with the department standing intact as Jesse Jones left it under the sting of a dismissal letter from President Roosevelt.

Jones turned direction of the department and Federal Loan Administrator functions over to Undersecretary Wayne Taylor yesterday, thus apparently bowing out of the official Washington scene.

On the Wallace side of the fence stands Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who wants the ex-vice president to control the whole works that Jones ran. Pepper conceded that a committee majority seems to favor reporting out a bill by Senator George (D-Ga.) to reestablish the lending control under a separate agency. A proposed amendment would prevent President Roosevelt from transferring it back to the commerce department.

Senators Murray (D-Mont.) and Guffey (D-Pa.) thought that the former vice president had made some voting hay among the senators in the group hearing yesterday.

Heaviest fighting of the Luzon campaign still was north and east of the Lingayen Gulf beachhead. Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift's First Corps had to fight for every inch of ground.

This meant the two divisions were on parallel highways which converge 15 miles to the south at San Fernando, capital of Pampanga province. From there the highway threads between two extensive marshes along the home stretch to Manila, where Filipinos are reported starving by the hundreds daily.

SPRINGBOARD FOR ATTACK ON RHINELAND

Flame-Throwing Infantry of Ninth Army Advances More Than Mile in Limited Night Attack

23 VILLAGES CAPTURED

By JAMES M. LONG
Paris, Jan. 26.—(P)—American Ninth and British Second Army troops cleared the entire west bank of the Roer river for 40 air-line miles from Holland to below Duren today, achieving a strategic springboard for attacks against the industrial Ruhr and the Rhineland.

Flame-throwing infantry of the Ninth army advanced more than a mile in a limited night attack, capturing Brachelen, 27 miles southwest of Dusseldorf, and 97 Siegfried line pillboxes. The German survivors withdrew completely to the east bank of the river.

The Allies captured at least 23 villages. The British took six, the French five, and the American First, Third and Ninth the rest.

Aggressive patrols found the Germans withdrawing. A great row of pillboxes along the Wurm river north of Brachelen fell without an artillery shot.

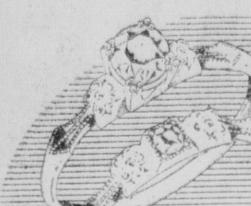

The elaborate attack plan prepared by the 13th Corps, headed by Maj. Gen. A. C. Gillem, Jr., former commanding general of the U. S. Army Armored Command, was discarded in favor of quick infiltration.

By late morning, the Ninth army had not suffered a single casualty, Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher reported.

Rev. H. L. Knappenberger was chosen master of ceremonies by President J. R. Elliott. In addition to directing the observance Rev. Knappenberger presented a picture of the work Kiwanis can do in the postwar world. J. H. Goldstein was called on to read a message from Ben Dean, president of Kiwanis International. Mr. Dean called attention to the fact that Kiwanis had been born in and was surviving the most critical period in world history. R. P. Eaton gave an interesting history of facts and persons in the Warren club. He was supported by an enthusiastic demonstration on the part of Dr. R. L. Young.

An added feature to the celebration was a large birthday cake decorated by 30 candles. The cake was cut by Charter Member, R. L. Young and was served to the club by the newer members. Jim Blomquist who was also celebrating a birthday (his sixteenth) was presented with an extra large piece of cake adorned with candles.

Dogs Trained In Rescue Work

Rescue workers clear debris at spot marked by Alsatian dog trained to "flush" V-bomb victims buried in ruins.

By TOM WOLF

"cast" over the ruins to give them a sniff not confused by the rescue workers' scents.

If a dog gets a "point" immediately, the second dog is cast over the debris to check it. If the dogs get no immediate scent the workers go back to digging and the dogs work on. Practice has proven that neither coal, gas or steam appreciably affect the dogs' skill, even if it had been feared might be the case.

Each of the dogs reacts in a different way on finding a scent. One of them stands still, drops his ears and shudders all over. Another becomes lively and yelps. A third lies down on the spot. Each pair of dogs works with his team, and the dogs are learning that the dog is literally man's best friend. Following successful experiments last October, eight Alsatians have been brought to southern England and put to work spotting buried air raid victims. It works.

Previously, if casualties were known or suspected to be under caved in walls, ceilings or cellars, it has been necessary for rescue workers to stop all work, get complete silence and then call through the debris.

In cases of fairly modern buildings, where the rubble usually turns out to be big chunks with comparatively large air spaces between pieces, this call-and-listen method is reasonably effective. A casualty, even if unconscious, can be heard breathing for some distance.

But, as is so often the case, if the crushed building is old or brick, the debris is too tightly packed for voices to carry farther to or from the victims. That's where the dogs come in. Their sense of smell and hearing, more acute than man's, enables them to "flush" buried casualties much as a good bird dog flushes grouse.

The dogs are worked in pairs, one working half an hour and then getting a 30-minute rest. Rescue workers are called off the debris the first time the dogs are

Men and Women In the Service

Sheffield Sailor Is One of 54 Saved From U. S. Destroyer

Michael Nagurney, 22 Tan street, Sheffield was one of the 54 men saved from the U. S. Destroyer Hull which went down in a typhoon in the South Pacific some weeks ago. The Hull was a 1395 ton vessel and had served in some of the most outstanding engagements in the Pacific campaign. It had been at Guadalcanal, Wake Island, the Marshalls and the Marianas. Out of a complement of 250 men on board only 54 were saved when the Destroyer went down turning over in the trough of high seas.

In the issue of "Time" under the date of January 22 there is an interesting account of the experiences of survivors from the three Destroyers, the Spence, Hull and Monaghan. Of the 84 men who survived after the harrowing experience Time says:

"How 84 men, or any men, lived in those waters is difficult to say. Most hung grimly to life rafts, watching their comrades washed off and powerless to save them.

Said Seaman Doil Carpenter, of Pasadena (a Monaghan man): "I was at No. 8 gun, aft, when she went down . . . The suction pulled me under, and I was out cold when I came back up, but a cook pulled me aboard a raft. He died the night before they picked us up, from drinking salt water. Every time a wave would hit the raft, some more men would be missing."

"Our water got salt in it. Besides the cook there was a kid from Texas—he was only 18—who died from salt water. They would foam at the mouth, a kind of cream-colored foam, and their tongues would curl, and swell up in their mouths and their lips turn inside out. A gunner's mate died from injuries. Four others died of thirst; they just went out of their heads—they didn't drink salt water."

Double jeopardy. Sharks played around most of the rafts constantly, yet three men who had no raft, and were kept afloat only by life jackets, never saw a shark. These three, from Spence, found themselves drifting separately and tied themselves together around a life ring. All had suffered strange hallucinations, the sight of land, a Jap girl bringing water, rescue by a Russian submarine, relieving the gun watch.

Nicholas Nagurney, a fireman, of the Hull, aboard another raft, had the strangest delusions and a unique experience. "Glenn Wilkerson told me to see how deep the water was. Then shark bit me. I don't remember feeling it when he bit me, but he was about eight feet long."

The shark had bitten a thin slab off the top of the right forearm.

Warrenites In Tiger Stripe Bomber Area

A special report datelined from a Ninth Air Force bomber base in France is authority for the news that S-Sgt. Loren Rowland, 215 East Fifth avenue, is one of the Tiger Stripe Marauder group which is making out OK in France with the aid of the little blue book of English-French phras's issued to all U. S. soldiers before they show off for France, plus the American's natural knack for making friends anywhere.

According to the same dispatch, Miss Mary Craft, 509 Liberty street, Warren, is listed as American Red Cross Club director for the same unit.

Continuing the report says: With the help of the little blue book, many gestures and much pointing, the U. S. soldiers are gradually developing a language all their own and managing to make themselves understood.

It's a common sight in this land of berets to see the medium bomber men, who operate behind the ground forces chatting in Americanized French to natives located in a territory where a few weeks ago the Marauders bombed in support of Allied ground men.

The American influx is showing its influence on the French. OK is making C'est bien dated; so long as is common as au revoir. Even "Mairzy Doats" is being sung and swung in garbled American by French kiddies.

After hearing the "any gum chum" chant of English children for 15 months, Americans are gradually getting accustomed to "cigarette pour papa," the French children's equivalent of the gum chum plea.

Purple Heart Awarded To Sheffield Man

A delayed dispatch from somewhere in the Pacific relates how Marine Sergeant Harry A. Young, 26, of Sheffield, earned the Purple Heart which was recently pinned on him by Major General Thomas E. Watson.

On D-Day on Saipan, when the battalion of Marines of which he is a member found the going really tough, the engineers left all their special tools behind, gripped their rifles and slid into the firing line to fight as riflemen for the next 20-odd hours. For, in that crucial time, it wasn't a matter of swarming forward, it was a matter of holding what had been gained in the initial brave sweep across the Jap-held beach defenses.

Marine Sergeant Young, who was a squad leader in a rifle company at Tarawa, led the engineers who served as infantrymen in that first hectic 24 hours, then reverted to his demolition work. For ten days he escaped injury.

Then he found himself too close to one of his charges when it went off and it landed him in a hospital for nine days. The son of George Young, of Sheffield, and employee of the Warren State Hospital for six years before he went into the Marine Corps, Young was again fit for duty when the invasion of Tinian began.

The hunks of shrapnel he carried off that island—he still has some in his chest—are proof positive to Young that the life of an engineer isn't an uneventful one. For the shrapnel caught him while he was "working" a group of caves on that Jap island, the standard work for the engineers.

"For this cav work," he explained, "we used demolition more than flame throwers. On Saipan the flame throwers often worked out ahead of the infantry, burning out caves or gun emplacements, and the one or two pill boxes we encountered. Sometimes the Japs would sit quietly and let the infantry go by. Then, when they gave their position away by shooting, it would be up to us to go after them and clear 'em out".

MEDECINE FROM POISON

A medicine, digitalis, is made from the foxglove, a poisonous plant. The medicine is used to slow down the beats of the heart, but is known as a heart stimulant.

John Harvard, after whom Harvard College was named, left half his estate and a library of more than 400 volumes to the college.

SOME WINTER!

"Old Timers" no longer have a monopoly on weather conversation as far as old-fashioned winters are concerned.

Since the early part of December this section has been gripped by winter weather on a par with anything the "Old Timers" could boast.

Some sections have been snowbound for weeks, so much so that the latest and most modern equipment has been unable to keep the drifts open.

During the current cold spell some argument was aroused over the thermometer readings, but it is admitted that it was below the twenties in some parts of the county, with one section reporting as far as 32 below.

Snowfall in most sections of the state has set a new record; in fact, observers have had to go back forty years to note anything like it.

We have had but few problems with the state highway in this area, since department crews have made a notable record, considering handicaps involved.

So, let's not permit the "Old Timers" to tell this generation how much worse the winters were when they were kids.

We can top anything they may offer!

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING DAY

Every reader should peruse carefully the article on another page calling attention to the observance of National Public Health Nursing Day. We have been made highly conscious of physical health since Uncle Sam went to war and all have read or heard of how many million young men have been rejected for military service because of physical disabilities or not measuring up to required health standards.

Public Health workers—there are seven in Warren county—acting in cooperation with members of the medical profession, are bringing the matter of better health more and more to public attention and they do this through several means, such as post-natal care of mothers, school examinations, and clinics, the suggestions of better balanced diets, etc.

Public Health Nurses are carrying on a commendable mission that benefits, either directly or indirectly, almost every home and individual in the community. This is their day and we are glad to add our tribute to the noble work they are doing.

The Zonta Club is still far short of the goal in the March of Dimes campaign. Your contribution will be gratefully received.

Published in Cooperation With the Warren County Ministerial Association Go-to-Church Campaign

Those pictures on the church page for the last three weeks—do you remember them? The one of the disabled soldier kneeling at the altar of his church with his minister's or priest's hand upon his shoulder and understandingly entering into the youth's fear of the future. Did you notice what a different expression the young man had? Then the one where the readied-for-battle soldier stopped to pray before he went into action. Then the one in which a company of soldiers were kneeling for prayer to rise to fight for their and our present and more glorious future. Remember?

It is true that our earth would be dark without the dust particles in the atmosphere refracting the light from the sun rays; and if the Church is the human "dust particles" which best reflect the light of heaven upon human life and so making it bearable and in spots even enjoyable;

If Jesus Christ of Nazareth is an accepted historical Person whose life has done more good to the human family than any one or the combinations of persons who have ever walked the earth; and if the Church is the one body of people in our world who seek not their own but their brothers' good in reciprocal practice as well as in worship;

If right from the Presence of God still shines upon our earth where people created in the image of God struggle for a living with, and sometimes against, each other; and if the Church is the best BEAM on earth down which God has pleased through the centuries to send this light of His Presence among His children;

Then why do so many of us humans, living in a Christian community, give the Church such dried-up and cast-away service, and even that often grudgingly? An observer is reminded of an observation of President Timothy Dwight of Yale made in 1796 when he described France as country which ridiculed with soft gloves and in luxury the life of Jesus and what it stood for as "the fable of Jesus Christ." Reckless church-absenteeism begets this type of cynicism, while others die on fields of battle that this heritage may be preserved for us. "Christ works through His Church. Will you let Him work through You?"

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

For the Lord thy God blesseth thee, as he promised thee; and thou shalt lead unto many nations, but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt reign over many nations, but they shall not reign over thee.—Deuteronomy 15:6.

YEARS AGO
IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1935

The severe winter weather has caused excitement over a possible flood. Although the snowfall this year has not been too great, there is fully a foot in the woods, and the ice on the river is frozen to the depth of ten inches.

A number of ice boats were seen on the Conewango Creek being maneuvered by young boys. The sails were made of leg of mutton and the going was good when the wind was blowing.

Between 1:20 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. yesterday, six new babies arrived at the Maternity hospital, with Youngsville leading the field claiming three. Warren had two and North Warren one.

The Nameless Five defeated the Corry Keystones, 38-26, with Pedlow and Dr. Brown leading the laps with 13 and 9, respectively.

In 1935

The Foreman's Club was formed with 41 men representing 13 different industries in attendance. Temporary officers elected were: President, S. V. Williams, of the Struthers Wells Company; vice-president, G. Juline, of the Warren Axe and Tool; secretary, M. E. Mackenzie, of the Warren Furniture Company; treasurer, G. F. Henry, of the Sherwood Refining Company.

The Metzger-Wright Company will have on exhibit a "City of Tomorrow" during the coming week. This fine mechanical display has been brought to Warren through the cooperation of many of the town's merchants and will interest young and old.

The City Cage loop ended its first half with the National Transist and the Times-Mirror winning their respective games to tie for first place honors.

YESTERDAY: Penny Martin, rushing to finish her final ad for Milady Perfumes, is interrupted by the unexpected arrival of her mother-in-law, Trudy Martin. Trudy is delighted to find that Penny is about to become a mother—her first grandchild. But Penny, reluctantly reveals that Jim, her husband, demands that she give up her career to care for the baby. She won't do it, she cries. Jim had agreed that she could retain her independent career after they were married and she intended to do so—despite the baby!

Chapter 2

SHE jerked wrapping paper around the finished art, her mind so much in a tumult that she could scarcely control the movements of her fingers as they tied the string. Then she rang for a delivery boy. She thought it the worst piece of work she'd turned out in years. She was going to seed. She swallowed hard, fighting weak tears.

Trudy counted stitches and said, "I had a wonderful time in Buenos Aires. I arrived at the height of the season and was overjoyed to find so many of my friends there. Met some nice people, too."

"So you wrote," Penny fingered the drapery at the window and felt rebuked. The echoes of the quarrel at breakfast seemed to linger in the room. "Don't you dare encourage Jim, Trudy. I couldn't stand it to have the two of you against me. We've got to work this out sensibly. I know, but I'm not going to give up everything that I've worked so hard to achieve."

Trudy chuckled. "You remind me of two wildcats fighting to see who is going to be boss of the den. You're furious, aren't you, because you are going to have this baby? Or it is because Jim has reacted to that fact in the usual manner? No, matter how superior—appearing he might be, most men do, you know."

"Both, I guess. And then this Milady Perfumes job having to come at just this time."

"Does that mean so much?"

"Everything. Jim would have liked a chance at it. He was disappointed when Rutter's asked me for my stuff."

"It seems to me that he's always been generous about your successes, Penny."

"I know. But before that, he understood perfectly and agreed with me about the baby. We bought a house in the suburbs, and we've been living there three months. Then this chance came along and I moved back into the city so that I could get the picture finished. That's when Jim said it."

"It's a novel idea, anyway. Most women—"

"Are afraid to admit it."

"Penny cut in swiftly. "Jim would not think of giving up his work. Why should I? Just because a woman has a baby doesn't mean that she must cut herself off from all that she loves to do—and can do well—and bury herself with a child. It is perfectly logical to assume that she can do both without either interfering with the other. It has been proven too many times to argue about."

"There might be compensations, Penny. Jim would have to shoulder his full share and it might be good for him. And look—myself. But now Jim's got some silly notion that a baby needs its mother's arms."

"Trudy, I'm not trained to care for a child. But I am trained to do art work."

"But—doesn't it?"

"I can't even remember my father and mother, and I haven't suffered because of it. A trained nurse can take better care of any baby than that child's mother."

TRUDY made a quick gesture of protest.

"Oh, read the books, Trudy! More harm is done by that broom—mother knows best—than anything else. I'm not trained to care for a child. But I am trained to do commercial art work."

"It's a novel idea, anyway. Most women—"

"Are afraid to admit it."

"Penny cut in swiftly. "Jim would not think of giving up his work. Why should I? Just because a woman has a baby doesn't mean that she must cut herself off from all that she loves to do—and can do well—and bury herself with a child. It is perfectly logical to assume that she can do both without either interfering with the other. It has been proven too many times to argue about."

"There might be compensations, Penny. Jim would have to shoulder his full share and it might be good for him. And look—

Suddenly, Penny awed her way out. She leaned forward eagerly. "You come and live with us, Trudy, will you? Until the baby is old enough for nursery school? Please, Trudy! Surely a grandmother's arms are as good as a mother's."

A very interesting and comprehensive report was given by Harry F. Mickel the statistician of the department for the year ending December 31st 1944.

During the year but 17 alarms of fire were given, these were from causes as follows: chimney fires, 6; steaming oil tank, 1; burning brush, 3; sparks, 3; unknown, 1; hot glass and oil, 1; leaking oil, 1; welders torch, 1.

Thirteen of these alarms were in Sheffield, three at Barnes and one at Saybrook. These fires endangered the lives of their members of 31 per cent of their membership, and while the loss of these men is greatly felt, nevertheless the department has functioned with high efficiency.

At present the department have serving in the armed forces fourteen of their members of 31 per cent of their membership, and while the loss of these men is greatly felt, nevertheless the department has functioned with high efficiency.

The firemen deserve a great deal of credit for the manner in which they have handled the situations, and for the giving of their time which gave them no compensation whatever. No matter the time of day or night, or what they were engaged in, or how inclement the weather might be, they are always ready and willing to give this same efficient service to the community.

At present the department have serving in the armed forces fourteen of their members of 31 per cent of their membership, and while the loss of these men is greatly felt, nevertheless the department has functioned with high efficiency.

On Tuesday at 6:30 p. m., 31 firemen and 27 invited guests met at the American Legion home for their annual banquet, in the lustrous dining room situated on the banks of the Tionesta Creek in the heart of the Allegheny National Forest. Several of the firemen and a few guests were unable to attend.

A sumptuous repast prepared and served by the ladies auxiliary of the American Legion was enjoyed by those present. Following the dinner with Emmet Henry acting as toastmaster many of the guests and firemen was called on who gave addresses, and a brief statistical report was given by Harry F. Mickel. After which those who remained enjoyed the rest of the evening doing those things that usually follow a meeting of this kind, and it was a late hour before the party disbanded.

The campaign committee, however, reported at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the club that there are still returns to come in from the county and from the special gifts section. These, with the theatre collections received annually, are expected to bring the amount to the quota total desired.

Fifteen members attended yesterday's meeting, when the March of Dimes occupied the main portion of the business session. Plans were also made for a rummage sale to be held in the Beckley building on March 16-17.

The next regular meeting of the club will be its birthday dinner meeting February 8 at the YWCA, with Ann McElroy, Mary Topper and Marguerite Painter as the committee.

Seven Public Health Nurses In County Doing Splendid Work In Their Various Lines

Today the United States is celebrating the first National Public Health Nursing Day. The theme, "Know Your Public Health Nurse—Who She Is, What She Does," was selected by the national committee, in part, because polls in many cities and towns indicate that few people had any idea of the function or scope of the public health nurse.

In Warren County there are seven public health nurses, each doing a special work. Miss Betty Gentilman is the State Public Health Nurse. Miss Margaret Horn is the Visiting Nurse. Miss Constance Frederickson is the Crippled Children's Nurse, and Miss Ethel Hodges, the Tuberculosis Nurse.

School nurses in the county include Mrs. Ann Hultberg, of the Warren borough schools; Mrs. Orrie Maasz, of the Youngsville School; and Mrs. Louise Blodgett, of the Sheffield School.

The State Public Health Nurse's duties consist of a generalized public health nursing service in cooperation with the community health program. One of Miss Gentilman's main services in this county is the supervision of the various local state clinics—for tuberculosis, pneumothorax, venereal diseases, orthopedic and child health centers. Recently special assistance has been rendered in the administration of the Kenny treatment for polio cases.

The visiting nurse has a variety of duties, including bedside care in the home, assisting the physician with home deliveries and assisting at Child Health and Crippled Children's Clinics. Miss Horn also instructs mothers in the care of their babies and makes social service visits in the homes.

The Crippled Children's Society was organized for the purpose of helping children who are the victims of any postural deformity, foot defects, or are crippled as the result of injury or sickness. Diagnostic clinics are held at the Warren General Hospital, usually twice a year. Miss Frederickson's duties include securing case histories, providing transportation to clinics and assisting with corrective exercises.

Attractive Aviation Display At Warren Bank & Trust Co.

Aviation enthusiasts of Warren are interested this week in the attractive display being shown at the Warren Bank & Trust Co. illustrating the six fundamental stages in the manufacture of the famed Lockheed Ventura bomber, scourge of the submarine.

A twin-engined, land-based plane, the Ventura has proven to be one of the Allied Command's them and to the teachers. Mrs. Hultberg visits the borough schools to inspect students after illness, those who are ill and to render first aid treatment or advisement. General health checkups are also a part of the routine.

Special assistance is given in connection with the Child Guidance Clinic, in cooperation with the Children's Psychiatric Division of the State Hospital; the Pre-School Clinic, and the Toxoid Clinic for inoculation against diphtheria.

The duties of the Township School Nurses are similar. Mrs. Blodgett carries on the work in the Sheffield School and Mrs. Maasz takes care of the Youngsville students' needs.

These are but a few of the valuable services which are being rendered by Warren County's public health nurses. They are making an important contribution to the public's health, from the preventative and educational angle, as well as the remedial side.

This evening the public health nurses will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Orrie Maasz, of Youngsville, in honor of the occasion of the first National Public Health Nursing Day.

The duties of the school nurses, not only include examination of pupils, but teaching health to the Society does not have money for the large operative work but renders real aid in the orthopedic work. Assistance is also given at Blood Banks and Powers Chest X-Ray Clinics.

Miss Hodges has many and varied duties in the course of her work. She gives health examinations in twenty-six schools in the county, twice each school year, in addition to special examinations.

Miss Hodges also examines the eyes of students in the fourth class district schools, and when necessary, presents cases that need assistance to the Lions' Club. She assisted in the Power Chest X-ray project and handled checkups on positive or suspected cases, helped at the blood banks, and Crippled Children's Clinics.

Warren High Cagers Battle To Maintain Top Position; Nursery Forward Detriment

Joe Massa's Dragons take to the highways again tonight in an attempt to add a ninth win to the book and to dump the Franklin Nurseryites out of the running in Section Two. A win tonight will definitely put the Nursery crew out of the running and will promise the locals a crack at the first half title.

The Franklin aggregation's 40-26 defeat at the hands of Titusville Tuesday night changes the tide of matters and gives the Massmen a decided advantage in tonight's fray. The Dragons initiated the Rockets in league competition here by handing them a 45-24 setback, and are anxious to make up for last Saturday's Jessup defeat.

Treadwell, head mentor of the Franklin quint, holds high hopes for Cooley, high scoring forward who held the section top scoring record until the Titusville-Franklin affair. Cooley put in 13 points in his Oil City performance, and added 18 against Meadville. He was held to but two points against the Rockets and his showing tonight will sound a keynote in the final outcome. The Rockets used a 5 to 1 defense against the one-man team and held him practically scoreless. The remainder of the Nursery's lineup will see Heater pairing with Cooley at forwards, Stumpf at center, and Phillips and Lavery at the guard posts.

Dragon coach Massa will probably depend upon his regulars to keep things under control. Joe Scalise and Tom Juliano at forwards, Babcock or Eaton at center, and Luca and Hammerbeck at guards. Gray is a promising candidate to substitute in either of the forward positions tonight and Jack Eaton will see plenty of action along with Babcock in the pivot post.

Other league activity brings Titusville and Oil City together on the Oilers' hardwood. The Warren-Franklin game starts at 8:30, the two schools' second stringers not seeing action.

Floor Show Numbers For Youth Event

Charles Brown will act as master of ceremonies for the community party floor show tomorrow evening at Beatty school. Last evening's rehearsal went smoothly and, with a final rehearsal Saturday, the show should be in good shape for the evening performance at ten o'clock.

Two nine-year-old cousins, Betty Scalise and Marlene Johnston, talented toe dancers, will make their debut at a community young people's party. Dale Holcomb, accompanied by John Knapp, will also make her community party debut with two numbers.

The Melody Men, who sang over WJTN on Sunday, have prepared a specialty act for tomorrow. The quartet includes Louis Bonacce, Ray Reed, Bob Gerardi and Jim Scalise.

Following out the party theme, Nancy Swanson, Coral King and Lois Hulding will put on an act, "In a Little Red Schoolhouse." Charles Brown and Dick Blair have prepared a clever comedy routine; and one of the orchestras will have a specialty number.

A new feature, the auditorium show, will be presented twice during the evening, with the first showing at 8:30. John Erickson and David Brown have arranged the show, "King Corn's Court." Those appearing in the court are Lillian Ristau, Melda Olsen, Marilynn Emery, Violet Merchant and Rowell Hoff.

The doors open at 8:30 tomorrow night; and the party ends at 11:30. There will be dancing with two local bands, skating with music, dance instruction and games during the evening. The party is open to all young people of the community, who are in their teens and not over twenty-one. Over 100 young people have assisted in party preparations.

NAZI FORCES IN EAST PRUSSIA ISOLATED

RUSSIAN TANKS REPORTED TO BE APPROACHING PROVINCE IN WHICH BERLIN IS LOCATED

Bitter Fighting Said To Be Taking Place for Poznan, Bydgoszcz and Torun Communication With Breslau Is Severed

KONIGSBERG AND ELBING ARE BEING STORMED

BULLETIN
London, Jan. 26.—(P)—Marshal Stalin announced today the capture of four East Prussian towns on the approaches to Königsberg in an order of the day. The four towns are Allenberg, Nordenburg, Lotzen and Tapiau. Allenberg is 32 miles southwest of Königsberg and Tapiau is 21 miles east of the East Prussian capital. Nordenberg is 21 miles southwest of Insterburg.

London, Jan. 26.—(P)—East Prussia has been cut off and German troops there isolated. Moscow dispatches reported flatly today, as Russian tanks to the south were placed by German broadcasts close to the border of Brandenburg, Prussian province of which Berlin is the capital.

From Moscow, P Correspondent Eddy Gilmore said Russians, having isolated the German forces in East Prussia, were now starting the grim task of storming Königsberg and Elbing, the two biggest centers of resistance left. A wide mopping-up operation in the German province was reported in progress, with Soviet columns still from 10 to 15 miles from Königsberg.

Today's German communiqué said Russian tank formations had driven "farther to the west and northwest on both sides of Poznan." It reported bitter fighting was in progress for Poznan, Bydgoszcz and Torun. Bydgoszcz is 9 miles northeast of Poznan and Torun is about 25 miles east of Bydgoszcz.

The German high command announced that "a fierce tank battle developed southwest of Gleiwitz," important mining and communications center in upper Silesia now held by Russians.

As the German radio announced the threat to Brandenburg, the Red Army newspaper Red Star asserted "we have reached the last road—the road we have dreamed about for three long years."

At the nearest point the Brandenburg border is within 91 miles of the German capital, but the German broadcast did not place the Russian spearheads exactly. Moscow reported yesterday that Red army forces were little more than 125 miles from Berlin.

Two other capital cities of German provinces were being threatened. The Russians announced that "all direct communications with Breslau have been cut off" and the Germans declared the Red army had launched an all-out drive for Königsberg.

Moscow placed the Russian forces within five miles of Poznan and a German broadcast reported they had driven past both sides of this key city in reaching the vicinity of the Brandenburg frontier. The broadcast said the tank vanguards had been destroyed.

Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, admitted "there is no continuous line today." (Turn to Page Eleven)

STATE PUBLISHERS ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Harrisburg, Jan. 26.—(P)—The Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association today elected G. Albert Stewart, editor and publisher of the Clearfield Progress, as president to succeed George J. Mead of the Erie Daily Times.

Accepting the post, the former state secretary of forests and waters told the PNPA 20th annual conference:

"Newspapers can best serve their country, in war as in peace, by discharging their editorial responsibilities in the true American tradition of freedom of expression and independence of action."

NOTE FROM EXILED REGIME

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—The United States has received a memorandum from the Polish government in exile asking establishment of an inter-Allied commission to administer Poland until elections can be held. This was disclosed today by acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew at a news conference which covered a wide range of diplomatic affairs.

RAKEMAN LOSES LEGS

Lancaster, Jan. 26.—(P)—Joseph H. Lentz, 51, Pennsylvania railroad brakeman, had both legs amputated in Lancaster hospital yesterday after workers with acetylene torches cut him loose from two freight cars between which he was pinned.

Less Than One Pat a Day Is Butter Rationing Prediction

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(P)—The nation's civilians face a 1945 rationing of less than one pat of butter a day, spokesmen for the industry said today as they announced they had urged "immediate" federal action to relieve the butter "crisis."

In telegrams to government food production and pricing agencies, the spokesmen, representing the over-all butter industry committee, "urgently requested" measures "to encourage, not dis- courage butter production."

At a special meeting here the committee, representing the American Butter Institute, National

Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, and the National Creameries Association, advocated increasing the base price of butter by six cents a pound and increasing the production payment on butter sold for butter.

Dr. H. A. Ruehe, institute secretary, said government policies now in effect "discourage" production and that the loss in butter output last year was 322,000,000 pounds, more than all the butter taken for the armed forces and lend lease—287,000,000 pounds. He said the 1944 output of creamy butter was 1,478,000,000 pounds, as compared to a normal output of 1,800,000,000 pounds.

Victorious Yanks Roll South After Capture of Clark Field Against Mild Jap Opposition

By the Associated Press

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 26—Clark Field, with its 17 airstrips within striking distance of the China coast, was firmly in American hands today, along with adjacent Fort Stotsenburg. Triumphant Yanks roared on south against such light opposition that combat officers expressed doubt the Japanese would make a determined fight short of Manila, some 40 miles south.

Vast Clark Field, most highly developed aviation center in the Philippines, with its extensive network of landing strips, shops and other installations, was captured early Thursday by Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's 14th Army Corps.

The Americans found few Japanese but numerous land mines and booby traps as they swarmed over Clark in pursuit of an enemy garrison of perhaps 5,000 which fled into the hills where artillery positions could keep the airstrips unusable.

The main body of Japanese was being hounded by American artillery. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communiqué today said "our forces are engaged in clearing enemy troops from the nearby hills."

Capture of Clark Field, certainly a major prize of the war, constituted a personal satisfaction for MacArthur, whose main air strength in the Philippines was wiped out in December, 1941, as Japanese divebombers struck devastating blows to open the Japanese conquest of the islands.

Sixth Army so fast the Japanese failed to put up a stiff fight from defenses carefully dug into ridges at the northern approaches.

For that reason, they had changed tactics and were urging that Wallace be voted up or down, with the department standing intact as Jesse Jones left it under the sting of a dismissal letter from President Roosevelt.

Jones turned direction of the departmental and Federal Loan Administrator functions over to undersecretary Wayne Taylor yesterday, thus apparently bowing out of the official Washington scene.

On the Wallace side of the fence stand Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who wants the ex-vice president to control the whole works that Jones ran. Pepper conceded that a committee majority seems to favor reporting out a bill by Senator George (D-Ga.) to reestablish the lending control under a separate agency. A proposed amendment would prevent President Roosevelt from transferring it back to the commerce department.

Engineers followed to put the field into shape.

Meantime the 37th Division of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beighter sent patrol screens across the valley to the left to protect the flank. This unit reached the highway town of Magalang, 10 miles east of Clark.

This meant the two divisions were on parallel highways which converge 15 miles to the south at San Fernando, capital of Pampanga province. From there the highway threads between two extensive marshes along the home stretch to Manila, where Filipinos are reported starving by the hundreds daily.

At Magalang the Americans flanked Mt. Arayat, where the Japanese had been expected to put up a defense against Yank columns moving down the eastern side of the central Luzon plain.

Heaviest fighting of the Luzon campaign still was north and east of the Lingayen Gulf beachhead. Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift's First Corps had to fight for every inch of ground.

The new embargo x x x should help considerably. It will tend to stop the piling up of freight, and give railroad crews a chance to unload the cars already here."

Subzero temperatures and snow slowed clearing operations yesterday, but 8,000 cars were reported ready to move out.

N. Y. Yankees Are Acquired By Syndicate

New York, Jan. 26.—(P)—The New York Yankees, world's richest baseball club, have been sold to a syndicate made up of Col. Larry MacPhail, Capt. Dan Topping and Del Webb, Phoenix, Ariz., contractor.

The deal, rumored since last August, was confirmed by Robert A. Becker, a business associate of Webb's in Phoenix who said that "Mr. Webb telephoned me this morning to transfer some money to him there to facilitate his part of the transaction."

Neither MacPhail nor Webb would comment here, although MacPhail announced that a press conference would be held later today.

Ed Barrow, club president and holder of 10 per cent of the stock in the huge enterprise, would not comment but his office indicated he also would have a statement later in the day.

The deal, said to involve between two and a half and three million dollars, still must be approved by the major league advisory council.

All the club's property, including the Yankee Stadium in New York and the baseball parks at Kansas City and Newark are included except for the Barrow stock. Three hundred and fifty players, of whom all but 115 are in the service, also change ownership.

The Japanese Domei news agency said in a dispatch intercepted by FCC that "the enemy intends to attempt new airborne operations on Luzon." The story said a "sizeable force" of American airborne units have been assembled on Leyte in the central Philippines.

DEPARTMENT STORES SALES SET A RECORD

Pittsburgh, Jan. 26.—(P)—Breaking all previous records for the same period, gross sales in 11 Pittsburgh department stores in the first three weeks of 1945 topped those in 1944 by eight per cent, the Bureau of Business Research, University of Pittsburgh, reported yesterday.

Coupled with moderate gains in originating shipments, this raised the business index 3.5 points. The enemy radio said four cruisers and eight destroyers carried out the bombardment, at a point 750 miles south of Tokyo.

NEW TACTICS IN FIGHT ON NOMINATION

Opponents Shift to Frontal Attack on Cabinet Appointment of Former Vice President

HOLD CLOSED HEARING

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—Opponents shifted to a frontal attack on the cabinet nomination of Henry A. Wallace today as the former vice president set up boundaries on the authority he might wield as secretary of commerce.

The senate commerce committee scheduled a closed meeting to vote on legislation to strip the department of control over the government's sprawling lending agencies.

But even as this action neared, administration critics let it become known that they believe they have 48 to 50 votes—enough to defeat the nomination—if it is considered before the senate passes on the diversion bill.

For that reason, they had changed tactics and were urging that Wallace be voted up or down, with the department standing intact as Jesse Jones left it under the sting of a dismissal letter from President Roosevelt.

Jones turned direction of the departmental and Federal Loan Administrator functions over to undersecretary Wayne Taylor yesterday, thus apparently bowing out of the official Washington scene.

On the Wallace side of the fence stand Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), who wants the ex-vice president to control the whole works that Jones ran. Pepper conceded that a committee majority seems to favor reporting out a bill by Senator George (D-Ga.) to reestablish the lending control under a separate agency. A proposed amendment would prevent President Roosevelt from transferring it back to the commerce department.

Senators Murray (D-Mont.) and Guffey (D-Pa.) thought that the former vice president had made some voting hay among the senators in the group hearing yesterday.

At Magalang the Americans flanked Mt. Arayat, where the Japanese had been expected to put up a defense against Yank columns moving down the eastern side of the central Luzon plain.

Heaviest fighting of the Luzon campaign still was north and east of the Lingayen Gulf beachhead. Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift's First Corps had to fight for every inch of ground.

The new embargo x x x should help considerably. It will tend to stop the piling up of freight, and give railroad crews a chance to unload the cars already here."

Subzero temperatures and snow slowed clearing operations yesterday, but 8,000 cars were reported ready to move out.

New Issue Is Injected Into Labor Draft

Washington, Jan. 26.—(P)—A new issue—the Fair Employment Practices Committee—rose up today to bedevil the house in its consideration of manpower legislation.

A group of members backing organized labor's stand on the bill let the word get around that they are ready to offer an amendment to give statutory standstills to the FEPC. They do this, they say if others carry out their plan to write into the legislation an "anti-closed shop" amendment.

The FEPC, now functioning under executive order to prevent discrimination in employment because of race, color or creed, has been a hot issue in congress, its main opposition coming from southern Democratic delegations.

These delegations are lining up behind an amendment, once approved and later rejected by the house military committee by close votes, to permit a man taking an essential job at the direction of his local draft board to work in a union shop without joining a union.

The amendment will be offered when the house debates the bill next week.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the military committee, said he would not resort to parliament procedure to prevent either the FEPC or the closed shop amendments from being considered by the house.

The warships, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed, raked that Nipponese air and observation base with their guns the same day that Superfortresses and Liberators dropped more than 180 tons of bombs on it, starting fires visible for 20 miles.

Two, from which the Japanese send raiders against Saipan and spot the B-29s winging to Japan, had been attacked on at least 15 of the first 23 days of 1945.

The Tokyo communiqué, recorded by the Associated Press, said also that a lone B-29 later in the morning appeared over the area apparently on a reconnaissance mission.

SINGAPORE REPORTED VISITED BY BOMBERS

By the Associated Press
A broadcast Japanese communiqué said today that "several enemy B-29 heavy bombers" attacked Singapore early today, and added the usual claim that "absolutely no damage was caused by this enemy nuisance raid."

The Tokyo communiqué, recorded by the Associated Press, said also that a lone B-29 later in the morning appeared over the area apparently on a reconnaissance mission.

Paris, Jan. 26.—(P)—American Ninth and British Second Army troops cleared the entire west bank of the Roer river for 40 miles from Holland to below Duren today, achieving a strategic springboard for attacks against the industrial Ruhr and the Rhineland. Flame-throwing infantry of the Ninth army advanced more than a mile in a limited night attack, capturing Brachelen, 27 miles southwest of Dusseldorf, and 97 Siegfried line pillboxes. The German survivors withdrew completely to the east bank of the river.

The Allies captured at least 25 villages. The British took six, the French five, and the American First, Third and Ninth the rest.

Aggressive patrols found the Germans withdrawing. A great row of pillboxes along the Wurm river north of Brachelen fell without an artillery shot.

The elaborate attack plan prepared by the 13th Corps, headed by Maj. Gen. A. C. Gillen, Jr., former commanding general of the U. S. Army Armored Command, was discarded in favor of quick infiltration.

By late morning, the Ninth army had not suffered a single casualty. Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher reported.

The Americans were surprised to find the pillboxes abandoned. Even one or two men in each concrete and steel emplacement could have inflicted considerable casualties. The troops had to advance through fields of mines, 30,000 of them laid by the Ninth army itself.

The advance was limited to clearing the American side of the river and did not involve large numbers of American troops.

In the woods just west of Hagenau, 15 miles north of the Alsatian capital, the Americans were mopping up Germans who crossed the Moder river between Neuburg and Schwieghausen.

Fighting broke out near Bischwiller, four miles southeast of Hagenau. The snow was 18 inches deep in places, bogging down infantry and tanks and ground planes.

The Ninth Army drive carried to within 25 miles of Dusseldorf and 12 of Munchen Gladbeck, both

Dogs Trained In Rescue Work

Rescue workers clear debris at spot marked by Alsatian dog trained to "flush" V-bomb victims buried in ruins.

By TOM WOLF

NEA Staff Correspondent
London—Scores of Britons trapped under debris of air raids or V-bombs are learning that the dog is literally man's best friend. Following successful experiments last October, eight Alsatians have been brought to southern England and put to work spotting buried air raid victims. It works.

Previously, if casualties were known or suspected to be under caved in walls, ceilings or cellars, it has been necessary for rescue workers to stop all work, get complete silence and then call through the debris.

In cases of fairly modern buildings, where the rubble usually turns out to be big chunks with comparatively large air spaces between pieces, this call-and-listen method is reasonably effective. A casualty, even if unconscious, can be heard breathing for some distance.

But, as is so often the case, if the crushed building is old or brick, the debris is too tightly packed for voices to carry far—either to or from the victims. That's where the dogs come in. Their sense of smell and hearing, more acute than man's, enables them to "flush" buried casualties much as a good bird dog flushes grouse.

The dogs are worked in pairs, one working half an hour and then getting a 30-minute rest. Rescue workers are called off the debris the first time the dogs are

"cast" over the ruins to give them a sniff not confused by the rescue workers' scents.

If a dog gets a "point" immediately, the second dog is cast over the debris to check it. If the dogs get no immediate scent the workers go back to digging and the dogs work on. Practice has proven that neither coal, gas or steam appreciably affect the dogs' skill, as it had been feared might be the case.

Each of the dogs reacts in a different way on finding a scent. One of them stands still, drops his ears and shudders all over. Another becomes lively and yelps. A third lies down on the spot. Each pair of dogs works with his own trainer, whose training job includes recognizing his dog's special method of pointing.

Training involves considerable discomfort for trainers, as it's necessary to bury human "casualties" in loose debris and then teach the dogs to find them. Dogs are doubly valuable because they always pick out live victims first and because they invariably pick the spot closest to the victim, thereby saving rescue workers untold time. Dogs have picked up scents 15 to 20 feet away in loose debris. In one case a dog brought to the second floor marked a victim buried on the ground floor.

Trainers say that the dogs' positive reactions are always reliable. So are the negative, unless the debris is packed too tight. The dogs have marked parts of bodies, like hands and feet, as long as 24 hours after the incident.

Richard Harding Davis, American journalist, came by his profession through his father, who was a newspaper editor, and his mother, who was a novelist.

Kiwanians Celebrate 30th Anniversary

Warren chapter of Kiwanians International observed the 30th anniversary of Kiwanis International at their regular luncheon-meeting Wednesday. The same anniversary was being held by more than 2000 other Kiwanis clubs and 138,000 members throughout the United States and Canada this week. The Warren chapter itself has a creditable record of 22 years in Kiwanis work.

Rev. H. L. Knappenberger was chosen master of ceremonies by President J. R. Elliott. In addition to directing the observance Rev. Knappenberger presented a picture of the work Kiwanis do in the postwar world. J. H. Goldstein was called on to read a message from Ben Dean, president of Kiwanis International. Mr. Dean called attention to the fact that Kiwanis had been born in and was surviving the most critical period in world history. R. P. Eaton gave an interesting history of facts and persons in the Warren club. He was supported by an enthusiastic demonstration on the part of Dr. R. L. Young.

An added feature to the celebration was a large birthday cake decorated by 30 candles. The cake was cut by Charter Member, R. L. Young and was served to the club by the newer members. Jim Blomquist who was also celebrating a birthday (his sixteenth) was presented with an extra large piece of cake adorned with candles.

Sheffield Sailor Is One of 54 Saved From U. S. Destroyer

Michael Nagurney, 22, Tan street, Sheffield was one of the 54 men saved from the U. S. Destroyer Hull which went down in a typhoon in the South Pacific some weeks ago. The Hull was a 1395 ton vessel and had served in some of the most outstanding engagements in the Pacific campaign. It had been at Guadalcanal, Wake Island, the Marshalls and the Marianas. Out of a complement of 250 men on board only 54 were saved when the Destroyer went down turning over in the trough of high seas.

In the issue of "Time" under the date of January 22 there is an interesting account of the experiences of survivors from the three Destroyers, the Spence, Hull and Monaghan. Of the 84 men who survived after the harrowing experience Time says:

"How 84 men, or any men, lived in those waters is difficult to say. Most hung grimly to life rafts, watching their comrades washed off and under, powerless to save them."

Said Seaman Doil Carpenter, of Pasadena (a Monaghan man): "I was at No. 8 gun aft, when she went down . . . The suction pulled me under, and I was out cold when I came back up, but a cool pulled me aboard a raft. He died the night before they picked us up, from drinking salt water. Every time a wave would hit the raft, some more men would be missing."

"Our water got salt in it. Besides the cook there was a kid from Texas—he was only 18—who died from salt water. They would foam at the mouth, a kind of cream-colored foam, and their tongues would curl, and swell up in their mouths and their lips turn inside out. A gunner's mate died from injuries. Four others died of thirst; they just went out of their heads—they didn't drink salt water."

Double jeopardy. Sharks played around most of the rafts constantly, yet three men who had no raft, and were kept afloat only by life jackets, never saw a shark. These three, from Spence, found themselves drifting separately and tied themselves together around a life ring. All had suffered strange hallucinations, the sight of land, Jap girl bringing water, rescue by a Russian submarine, reliving the gun watch.

Nicholas Nagurney, a fireman, of the Hull, aboard another raft, had the strangest delusions and a unique experience. "Glenn Wilker son told me to see how deep the water was. Then a shark bit me. I don't remember feeling it when he bit me, but he was about eight feet long."

The shark had bitten a thin slab off the top of the right forearm.

Warrenites In Tiger Stripe Bomber Area

A special report dated from a Ninth Air Force bomber base in France is authority for the news that S/Sgt. Loren Rowland, 215 East Fifth avenue, is one of the Tiger Stripe Marauder group which is making out OK in France with the aid of the little blue book of English-French phrases issued to all U. S. soldiers before they shove off for France, plus the American's natural knack for making friends anywhere.

According to the same dispatch, Miss Mary Craft, 509 Liberty street, Warren, is listed as American Red Cross Club director for the same unit.

Continuing the report says: With the help of the blue book, few facial gestures and much pointing, the U. S. soldiers are gradually developing a language all their own and managing to make themselves understood.

It's a common sight in this land of berets to see the medium bomber men, who operate behind the ground forces chattering in Americanized French to natives located in a territory where a few weeks ago the Marauders bombed in support of Allied ground men.

The American influx is showing its influence on the French. OK is making C'est bien dated; so long as is common as au revoir. Even "Mairzy Doats" is being sung and swung in garbled American by French kiddies.

After hearing the "any gum chum" chant of English children for 15 months, Americans are gradually getting accustomed to "cigarette pour papa," the French children's equivalent of the gum chum plea.

Purple Heart Awarded To Sheffield Man

A delayed dispatch from somewhere in the Pacific relates how Marine Sergeant Harry A. Young, 26, of Sheffield, earned the Purple Heart which was recently pinned on him by Major General Thomas E. Watson.

On D-Day on Saipan, when the battalion of Marines of which he is a member found the going really tough, the engineers left all their special tools behind, gripped their rifles and slid into the firing line to fight as riflemen for the next 20-odd hours. For, in that crucial time, it wasn't a matter of swarming forward, it was a matter of holding what had been gained in the initial brave sweep across the Jap-held beach defenses.

Marine Sergeant Young, who was a squad leader in a rifle company at Tarawa, led the engineers who served as infantrymen in that first hectic 24 hours, then reverted to his demolition work. For ten days he escaped injury.

Then he found himself too close to one of his charges when it went off and it landed him in a hospital for nine days. The son of George Young, of Sheffield, and employee of the Warren State Hospital for six years before he went into the Marine Corps, Young was again fit for duty when the invasion of Tinian began.

The hunks of shrapnel he carried off that island—still has some in his chest—are proof positive to Young that the life of an engineer isn't an uneventful one. For the shrapnel caught him while he was "working" a group of caves on that Jap island, the standard work for the engineers.

"For this 'cave work,' he explained, "we used demolitions more than flame throwers. On Saipan the flame throwers often worked out ahead of the infantry, burning out caves or gun emplacements, and the one or two pill boxes we encountered. Sometimes the Japs would sit quietly and let the infantry go by. Then, when they gave their position away by shooting, it would be up to us to go after them and clean 'em out."

Protect Your Cars Is Advice Of Officials

Harrisburg, Jan. 25—Don't start any trips you can't finish right-side up by your own efforts, State Highway Safety Director T. Elmer Transeau said.

Many of the mechanics you used to depend upon to repair the ravages of winter slides and glides have not been returned to civilian use yet, Transeau added.

"An Army that moves in trucks and jeeps, Navy that strikes from thousands of multi-motored planes and smaller sea craft, a war industry that still has huge tasks for skill and precision to perform, have first call on mechanics' services," Transeau said.

"Rescue tow trucks are scarcer and older. State, county and city snowplows to keep streets clear are scarcer and older, too, and men to man them are harder to find. All in all, this winter's motorist is going to have to rely more and more on his own good sense to keep him out of trouble.

"Winter accidents, research by the National Safety Council's Committee on Driving Hazards has determined, are most often caused by inadequate traction or reduced visibility. Self-help against the first of these is a matter of not neglecting to put anti-skid chains on your tires when snow or ice prevail, and driving at lower speeds. Protection against reduced visibility can be

SOME WINTER!

"Old Timers" no longer have a monopoly on weather conversation as far as old-fashioned winters are concerned.

Since the early part of December this section has been gripped by winter weather on a par with anything the "Old Timers" could boast.

Some sections have been snowbound for weeks, so much so that the latest and most modern equipment has been unable to keep the drifts open.

During the current cold spell some argument was aroused over the thermometer readings, but it is admitted that it was below the twenties in some parts of the county, with one section reporting as far as 32 below.

Snowfall in most sections of the state has set a new record; in fact, observers have had to go back forty years to note anything like it.

We have had but few problems with the state highway in this area, since department crews have made a notable record, considering handicaps involved.

So, let's not permit the "Old Timers" to tell this generation how much worse the winters were when they were kids.

We can top anything they may offer!

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING DAY

Every reader should peruse carefully the article on another page calling attention to the observance of National Public Health Nursing Day. We have been made highly conscious of physical health since Uncle Sam went to war and all have read or heard of how many million young men have been rejected for military service because of physical disabilities or not measuring up to required health standards.

Public Health workers—there are seven in Warren county—acting in cooperation with members of the medical profession, are bringing the matter of better health more and more to public attention and they do this through several means, such as post-natal care of mothers, school examinations, and clinics, the suggestions of better balanced diets, etc.

Public Health Nurses are carrying on a commendable mission that benefits, either directly or indirectly, almost every home and individual in the community. This is their day and we are glad to add our tribute to the noble work they are doing.

The Zonta Club is still far short of the goal in the March of Dimes campaign. Your contribution will be gratefully received.

Published in Cooperation With the Warren County Ministerial Association Go-to-Church Campaign

Those pictures on the church page for the last three weeks—do you remember them? The one of the disabled soldier kneeling at the altar of his church with his minister's or priest's hand upon his shoulder and understandingly entering into the youth's fear of the future. Did you notice what a different expression the young man had? Then the one where the readied-for-battle soldier stopped to pray before he went into action. Then the one in which a company of soldiers were kneeling for prayer to rise to fight for their and our present and more glorious future. Remember?

If it is true that our earth would be dark without the dust particles in the atmosphere refracting the light from the sun rays; and if the Church is the human "dust particles" which best reflect the light of heaven upon human life and so making it bearable and in spots even enjoyable;

If Jesus Christ of Nazareth is an accepted historical Person whose life has done more good to the human family than any one or combinations of persons who have ever walked the earth; and if the Church is the one body of people in our world who seek not their own but their brothers' good in reciprocal practice as well as in worship;

If right from the Presence of God still shines upon our earth where people created in the image of God struggle for a living with, and sometimes against, each other; and if the Church is the best BEAM on earth down which God has pleased through the centuries to send this light of His Presence among His children;

Then why do so many of us humans, living in a Christian community, give the Church such dried-up and cast-away service, and even that often grudgingly? An observer is reminded of an observation of President Timothy Dwight of Yale made in 1796 when he described France as a country which ridiculed with soft gloves and in luxury the life of Jesus and what it stood for as "the fable of Jesus Christ." Reckless church-absenteeism begets this type of cynicism, while others die on fields of battle that this heritage may be preserved for us. "Christ works through His Church. Will you let Him work through You?"

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1925
The severe winter weather has caused excitement over a possible flood. Although the snowfall this year has not been too great, there is fully a foot in the woods, and the ice on the river is frozen to the depth of ten inches.

A number of ice boats were seen on the Conewango Creek being maneuvered by young boys. The sails were made of leg of mutton and the going was good when the wind was blowing.

Between 1:20 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. yesterday, six new babies arrived at the Maternity hospital, with Youngsville leading the field claiming three. Warren had two and North Warren one.

The Nameless Five defeated the Corry Keystones, 38-26, with Pedlow and Dr. Brown leading the points with 13 and 9, respectively.

In 1935
The Foremen's Club was formed with 41 men representing 13 different industries in attendance. Temporary officers elected were: President, S. V. Williams, of the Struthers Wells Company; vice-president, G. Juline, of the Warren Axe and Tool; secretary, M. E. Mackenzie, of the Warren Furniture Company; treasurer, G. F. Henry, of the Sherwood Refining Company.

The Metzger-Wright Company will have on exhibit a "City of Tomorrow" during the coming week. This fine mechanical display has been brought to Warren through the cooperation of many of the town's merchants and will interest young and old.

Silver Wedding Of William Cannons Marked By Party

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cannon, Jr., of 24 Crescent Park, entertained 83 guests at a beautifully appointed dinner at the Woman's Club last evening in observance of their silver wedding anniversary.

Tables for the 6:30 dinner were laid in the club auditorium, seven tables radiating from a bride's table for twelve set near the stage.

Silver candelabra holding white candles and silver sprays of flowers and ornaments decorated the tables, while flowers were used throughout the clubhouse to heighten the party atmosphere. Two lovely gifts of flowers came from their children, Joe, who is at a training base in Chicago, and Miss Janet, student at Westminster College in New Wilmington. A third child, Miss Nancy, was present to assist her parents in welcoming the guests.

Cards followed dinner, with the following receiving attractive awards: Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. George Calderwood, Lee Thompson and Fred Plummer, high for contract; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Miller, Mrs. T. L. Armstrong and W. E. Lutz, low. Mr. and Mrs. Moss Connelly had high honors in the rummy game.

Out of town guests for the party were Mrs. Arthur Treat, of Union City, and Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Williams.

The Cannons were wed in DuBois on January 26, 1920, by the Rev. J. Vernon Bell and have lived in Warren for the past 18 years.

The general invitation is something to this effect: "Come on you freshmen and dance with the dolly with the hole in her stocking!"

A party at Camp Jefmore was enjoyed by Junior-Senior Club girls and their dates on Wednesday evening. A camp supper was waiting at the end of a short hike from North Warren and, at the end of the evening, several ambitious couples hiked back to town.

At their meeting on January 18, Sophomore Girls' Club members discussed "Why I Joined Girls Club." The result was a better all-around understanding of the role a Girl Reserve plays in the YWCA.

Zontians Report On Progress Made In March of Dimes

With reports still far from complete, Zonta Club members report the sum of $1,309 has been raised in their drive toward $3,500 quota for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis March of Dimes campaign.

The campaign committee, however, reported at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the club that there are still returns to come in from the county and from the special gifts section. These, with the theatre collections received annually, are expected to bring the amount to the quota total desired.

Fifteen members attended yesterday's meeting, when the March of Dimes occupied the main portion of the business session. Plans were also made for a rummage sale to be held in the Beckley building on March 16-17.

The next regular meeting of the club will be its birthday dinner-meeting February 8 at the YWCA, with Ann McClure, Mary Topper and Marguerite Painter as the committee.

CHARLESTON'S CHARM
Charleston, S. C., retains its 18th century architecture, so full of warmth, charm and beauty. It might not have been so well preserved except for funds raised by War Bonds that enabled our fighting forces to erect and hold an impregnable barrier against attack from overseas. War Bonds bought now will keep it unmarred. The quaint house that Col. Charles Brewton gave his daughter in 1733 embodies that charm. The delicate iron balcony and carriage entrance leading directly to the street are characteristic touches—prevailing in Southern homes in the formative years preceding the Revolutionary War.

Dragons at Franklin; Forge, Struthers Win in YM Loop

Warren High Cagers Battle To Maintain Top Position; Nursery Forward Detriment

Joe Massa's Dragons take to the highways again tonight in an attempt to add a ninth win to the book and to dump the Franklin Nurseryites out of the running in Section Two. A win tonight will definitely put the Nursery crew out of the running and will promise the locals a crack at the first half title.

The Franklin aggregation's 40-26 defeat at the hands of Titusville Tuesday night changes the tide of matters and gives the Massamen a decided advantage in tonight's fray. The Dragons initiated the Rockets in league competition here by handing them a 45-24 setback, and are anxious to make up for last Saturday's Jamestown defeat.

Treadwell, head mentor of the Franklin quint, holds high hopes for Cooley, high scoring forward who held the section top scoring honors until the Titusville-Franklin affair. Cooley put in 13 points in his Oil City performance, and added 18 against Meadville. He was held to but two points against the Rockets and his showing tonight will sound a keynote in the final outcome. The Rockets used a 5 to 1 defense against the one-man team and held him practically scoreless. The remainder of the Nursery's lineup will see Hester pairing with Cooley at forwards, Stumpf at center, and Phillips and Lavery at the guard posts.

Dragon coach Massa will probably depend upon his regulars to keep things under control, Joe Scalise and Tom Juliano at forward, Babcock or Eaton at center, and Luchs and Hammerbeck at guards. Gray is a promising candidate to substitute in either of the forward positions tonight and Jack Eaton will see plenty of action along with Babcock in the pivot post.

Other league activity brings Titusville and Oil City together on the Oilers' hardwood. The Warren-Franklin game starts at 8:30, the two schools' second stringers not seeing action.

Schoolboy Titles Decided In Tonight's Engagements

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Several first half basketball titles will be decided tonight as Pennsylvania school-boy fives reach the halfway mark in the drive toward a state championship.

Playoffs appeared likely in some circuits, notably the East Penn and Anthracite loops, but in the Lackawanna League the schedule makers set the stage for a fitting climax Saturday night when Dunmore and Carbondale meet on the latter's floor with the title at stake.

Originally booked for tonight, the game was rescheduled for tomorrow due to a conflict over the floor.

Pottsville must win from Eaton tonight in order to tie Allentown for the East Penn crown. The Easton five sprang one of the season's biggest upsets Wednesday by taking the measure of Bethlehem 41-40 and will furnish plenty of opposition for Bill McClure and his miners.

Foster Township entertains St. Gabriel's with a win essential if the Foster boys hope to tie the Hazel Township for Anthracite loop laurels.

Steelton and Reading were deadlocked for first place in the Central Penn conference, with neither scheduled for loop competition in a circuit that has no split season.

In other eastern leagues Plymouth was assured of the Wyoming Valley crown after a 31-25 win over Nanticoke; Palmerton needed a win over Slatington to take Lehigh Valley honors; Pottstown clashed with West Chester in a crucial suburban league game; Lower Merion's hopes of again representing District One depended largely on a win tonight over Norristown, while Mahanoy City and Schuylkill were cut in front in the Black Diamond and Keystone Leagues, with no split season to cause them added worry.

In the midwest State College faced Bellefonte in a traditional game with high hope of ending the first half central states season unbeaten. Johnstown has already clinched the tri-county honors for the first half, and Warren plays at Franklin in a fray that will decide top honors in District Ten, Section 2.

Other games on the day's slate found Lebanon, last year's Central Penn champions at Allentown; Titusville; Oil City; Johnstown at Grove City; and on tomorrow's list Hazle Township at Williamsport; Grove City at Meadville; Sayre at Vestal; and Erie Academy vs. Erie Tech in a city series engagement.

Sport Writers Pay Tribute To Athletes Who Gave Lives

By RALPH E. WALLIS

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The most courageous athlete of 1944 is composite of many persons—the little known ad the great who came from every field of sport to give their lives in the service of their country.

For the first time in a decade, the Philadelphia Sporting Writers Association paid this unique annual tribute to a group.

"A posthumous award to all courageous athletes who made the supreme sacrifice x x x and whose patriotism, courage and sportsmanship were embodied in Lt. Robert Wilson, U. S. Army Air Corps," read the inscription.

"I don't deserve it but I'll remember it as long as I live," he said.

Marine Col. E. E. (Swede) Larsen, former navy football coach, said teamwork learned on sports fields was paying off in dividends in the war.

"It's the teamwork we learned that has made it possible for us to rise from practically nothing to the greatest military organization in the world," he said.

Bucky Walters, just back from a visit to the European battle theater, said the most asked sports question there was "who will replace Judge Landis?"

Once when soldiers were told that "maybe they're waiting for a big name to come out of this war," Bucky said a bewildered GI, fresh from a foxhole bellowed:

coach for the Cubs.

Last year's most courageous athlete award went to Pete Gray, one-armed baseball player, who is now the property of the St. Louis Browns.

Marty (Slatz) Marion, shortstop for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, was named the "most outstanding athlete of 1944."

"I don't deserve it but I'll remember it as long as I live," he said.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—While most college athletic leaders believe that the one big lesson they have learned during the war is that "athletics for all" should be made a reality instead of an ideal, Fritz Crisler is the only one we have heard of so far who has a definite plan to bring this about...

Crisler's post-war idea, which has been favorably received in informal discussions with other western conference leaders, calls for "sports weekends" instead of single big games against rival schools...

For instance, the Michigan-Minnesota football game would continue to be the main event of the weekend on which it was scheduled, but Fritz would have the colleges compete also in jayvee and 150-pound football, soccer, rugby, cross country and other games that might be in season...

Teed had 19 or 20 sports instead of nine or ten, plus limited freshman competition and a big intramural program to back it up.

Quote, Unquote

"Such a plan," Crisler explains, "would broaden competition for student bodies generally by presenting nearly three times as many students an opportunity to participate in competitive athletics as would have that opportunity under normal circumstances..."

It also would give each student a competitive goal to strive for in which his own initiative and willingness to improve himself would be a major factor in earning a place on his particular team...

That is one of the fundamental values in college athletics."

Unanswered Question

One thing Fritz hasn't explained yet—but he's still working on details of the plan—is where will the dough come from?...

It's usually the size of the football gates that decide what other college sports will be carried on.

Shorts and Shells

Frankie Gustine, the Pirate infielder, is working in a Pittsburgh department store this winter—and probably waiting for contract time to find out if there's a Santa Claus...

When Connie Mack joined the gallery at the recent Los Angeles Open Golf tournament, he followed only one player—ex-baseballer Sam Byrd...

Instead of hiring a pro to make some fancy basketball shots for his new picture, "Here Come the Co-Eds," comedian Lou Costello shot them himself...

He later explained he had been a pretty good guy on the court at Ridgefield Park and Camden, N. J., twenty-odd years ago...

The original charter of Harvard College, granted in 1650, is still preserved in the University archives.

Floor Show Numbers For Youth Event

Charles Brown will act as master of ceremonies for the community party floor show tomorrow evening at Beatty school. Last evening's rehearsal went smoothly and, with a final rehearsal Saturday, the show should be in good shape for the evening performance at ten o'clock.

Two nine-year-old cousins, Betty Scalise and Marlene Johnston, talented toe dancers, will make their debut at a community young people's party. Dale Holcomb, accompanied by John Knapp, will also make her community party debut with two numbers.

The Melody Men, who sang over WJTN on Sunday, have prepared a specialty act for tomorrow. The quartet includes Louis Bonac, Ray Reed, Bob Gerardi and Jim Scalise.

Following out the party theme, Nancy Swanson, Coral King and Lois Hullings will put on an act, "In a Little Red Schoolhouse." Charles Brown and Dick Blair have prepared a clever comedy routine; and one of the orchestras will have a specialty number.

A new feature, the auditorium show, will be presented twice during the evening, with the first showing at 8:30. John Erickson and David Brown have arranged the show, "King Corn's Court." Those appearing in the court are Lillian Ristau, Melda Olsen, Marilyn Emery, Violet Merchant and Lowell Hoff.

The doors open at 8:30 tomorrow night; and the party ends at 11:30. There will be dancing with two local bands, skating with music, dance instruction, and games during the evening. The party is open to all young people of the community, who are in their teens and not over twenty-one. Over 100 young people have assisted in party preparations.
